

Dementia friendly dentistry: A team approach to making the dental visit a good experience for people living with dementia

Providing a new approach to Peer Review:
Education and Debate (Invitation only)

Overview of Evening

Dementia is becoming increasingly prevalent, due to our ageing population and improved recognition of the condition. However, the nature of dementia means that managing the condition can pose unique and sometimes difficult issues, in Primary Dental Care.

Following the launch of the 'dementia friendly dentistry' toolkit in May 2016, this second set of peer review sessions includes an update on ongoing work with primary dental care and local dementia services, provides an opportunity to review patient case studies and 'problem solve' some of the challenges involved.
