

A Periodontal Update

A course for Dentists

Aim

To be aware of the range of periodontal conditions that requires treatment. To understand the principle aetiological and risk factors involved, understanding the importance of screening and assessment for periodontal disease in general practice and appreciate the range of options available. This course will give delegates a greater understanding of the indications for, and limitations of antimicrobial.

Objective

The objective of this course is to ensure that Dentists and Hygienists are effectively screening for, assessing and diagnosing various periodontal diseases. We will also look at contemporary treatment strategies, the use of adjuncts and when to consider referral to a Specialist.

Learning Outcomes

- Diagnose periodontal diseases accurately and effectively
- Use BPE as a fast and effective screening tool
- Assess patients' level of risk for periodontitis accurately
- Choose an appropriate treatment approach for individual patients, understanding where advanced treatments fit into patients perio care
- Use antimicrobials in rational and evidence based way
- know appropriate treatment strategies including adjuncts and when to consider referral

Closing Date

Friday 22nd January 2016, if there is space on the course you can book on after the closing date, however no refunds will be given after this date although you can nominate another delegate.

CPD

This course meets the education criteria set by the GDC and qualifies for 5.5 hrs of verifiable CPD.

Speakers

Ian Dunn BChD MFGDP MSc (Perio)
Specialist Periodontist

Venue:

Lancaster Royal Infirmary
Education Centre
Ashton Road
LA1 4RR

Date:

Friday 19th February 2016

Time:

9.30am – 4.30pm
(Registration & refreshments from 8.30am)

Cost:

NHS	£30.00
Non NHS	£60.00

Booking Information:

To book your place on this course please log on to your MAXCOURSE profile and follow instructions online www.maxcourse.co.uk/henw

