

Self-Awareness & Respectful Curiosity: An Approach to Working with Diversity

Tuesday, 7th May 2019 — Thorpe Park Hotel, Leeds

DURING THE DAY WE WILL:

- Explore our multiple contextual cultural identities
- Look at how culture influences our reactions / assumptions and the delivery of patient-centred care
- Explore what is taught on the "Understanding General Practice" course which is available to those with a SJT (PDT) score of 2 or self-identify as International Medical Graduates in ST1
- Explore together what works in training for the people who come to us as trainees.

BY THE END OF THE COURSE:

You will have more tools to help support trainees transition to genuine patient-centred care.

FACILITATED BY:

Dr Aarti Bansal - GP and Academic Training
Fellow at the AUPMC University of Sheffield

We would request permission to record parts of this course to evaluate it and share learning
